cher, what can I say? A year ago isn't exactly like writing you a note. I've got to keep the disgusting and perverted stuff down to a bare min. (ser that doesn't leave much, does it?) Well, it's been great. I was pretty down in the dumps one day and the next I met you! My whole life turned around in 24 hrs. It was great and every day with you makes it better and better. You're terrific and pointing around. Then you when we met. I was down in the dumps and pointed me in the right direction. And then, ~~instead~~ instead of just pointing the way out, you came along picked me up, polished me off and pointed the direction you pointed along and helped all of the way and now I know the direction you pointed to was yourself. You're terrific. You listen to me rant on, you have a terrible pair of soft shoulders to cry on. Every time I see you, you have another surprise up your sleeve. Well kid, I've known you for under a year so far. Lets keep it going up love ya
 Chris

Supper Club

A never-ending variety of people makes the world both interesting and ever-changing. Like a good meal, life is at its best when it includes a little bit of everything. People as different as a club sandwich and chateaubriand, with equally contrasting cultures, lend diversity and intrigue to an otherwise mundane existence. How very dull living would be if everyone held the same views and thought the same way.

Life offers a multitude of choices in as broad a range as an extensive menu. One can stick with the tried and true, like the All-American hamburger, or venture to try something as exotic as ocean squid. Whatever the final decision, one can always go back for seconds or resolve to attempt something totally different the next time. A variety of options for a variety of palettes; that is the best part of what life has to offer. And, like a vintage wine, it can improve tremendously as time goes on.

STUDENT LIFE

SCHS Lives A Life Of Make Believe

The stage was filled with a group of students who were in costume scenes portrayed a picture of a world of make believe. The feeling that filled the hearts of the students and members were not however, the feeling of make believe.

Starting the evening with a song, the students gave a great performance. The students and members of the choir, the band, and the orchestra. The song was "Through the Eyes of Love". The song was a love song.

Next in the evening was a song by the students. The song was "Through the Eyes of Love". The song was a love song.

Spirit And Colors Day Add To World Of Make-Believe

Kidder Park and Junior High provided the setting for Spirit Day. Students and teachers dressed as their favorite fantasy characters. The atmosphere was full of the excitement of the day. They spent the afternoon in the gym, playing and playing. They were able to express their creativity through wearing their costumes and cheering for their favorites. The assemblies and picnic provided additional ingredients for the week's recipe.

Homecoming Provides Welcome Change Of Pace

Opening the 1983 Homecoming celebration, the quaint events of the bonfire clearly expressed the idea that although the flame fades away, the fire still burns. Stemming from this optimistic view, one can easily recognize and appreciate the giant effort of the football players, who unfortunately lost to Thomas Moore. Throughout the day the feeling remained and carried over to the final activity of the week. Students' attendance and their enthusiasm for the entertainment provided by "Leverage" clearly labeled the evening successful.

Overall the Homecoming weekend closed out a week which Homecoming Queen, Anne Dziengel described as special time for all and many thanks to the Homecoming Committee.

Catching Up With State Of The Art

Home computers today do not provoke the same fear and skepticism as they did when manufacturers first introduced them to the general public. Initially, people drew a mental picture of gangs and junkies hanging out at the local video arcade. Parents believed that their sons' and daughters' minds would turn to mush if they frequented any of these seedy dens of vice. The connection of this exaggerated perception of video games with home computers arose, because many of the computers can be programmed to play games, and many of the home video games can double as computers. A lot of people believed this was just one more way to raise a bunch of wide-eyed, gaping-mouthed youngsters with no imagination or ability to function without computer aid.

Although the pros and cons of this issue are available, there is no doubt that the computer is rapidly gaining respect, as more and more of the public opts for purchasing one for their homes. All sorts of functions can be performed by these machines, from budgeting, to monitoring the stocks, to using them as learning aids for children.

As society becomes more and more receptive to computers, it also becomes more dependent upon them. The present high school student today, does not enter college without at least attempting to gain a basic knowledge of computers. Increased enrollment in computer classes illustrates this point clearly. Once obscure courses like BASIC Programming, are now offered in most high schools, as well as a growing number of elementary schools. Colleges make extensive use of computers for records, student research, library catalogs and even have gone as far as to include terminals in the dormitories. The trend is to make accessibility easy, and, therefore, to encourage use.

But how widespread can computers really become, at least in the home? Prices add up quickly when all components are purchased "a la carte." A printer can easily more than double the original price of the computer. Where such a large investment is required, it remains questionable how many moderate income people can justify the purchase of a home computer. There are those, however, who predict that the inflated prices will fall, and both hardware and software will become affordable to the common man, just as calculators and digital watches did.

At any rate the expanding functions of computers in society are undeniable. If anything, the vista of possibilities seems only to be broadening. In all likelihood, the generations of tomorrow will be experiencing a new frontier in which the computer is not an object to be feared, but a valuable learning companion and ally.

International Day Cultures SCHS

Refrains of "Rubber Ducky", sung by the third year Spanish classes, rang through the halls on International Day, as did the lively can-can music from France and the hearty Polka beat from Germany. Without a doubt, however, the German "Chicken Dance" proved to be the most popular number of the day because all students and faculty joined in the arm flapping, hip wiggling, chaotic fun.

Food from such far away places as Munich, Germany, Paris, France, and Madrid, Spain was served in the SCHS cafeteria. The aroma of bratwurst, ham-and-cheese croissants and Spanish beef filled the air, enticing prospective buyers. The various language groups filled display tables with mementos from students, advisors, and teachers' trips abroad. Dolls in traditional costumes of their native countries, magazines and other cultural artifacts decorated the cafeteria that day. Candy imported from Spain, Germany and France sold well, proving that all the world has a sweet tooth. On the whole, the 1984 International Day was a great success.

Michael Jackson Dominates Year

With his sequin-studded glove, his sunglasses and of course his hit album "Thriller", Michael Jackson dominated the music scene. Girls sighed as he received his eight grammy, a new record. Along with Jackson, however, emerged Culture Club with a parade of hit songs, including "Karma Kameleon" and "Miss Ya Blind". The Police and Genesis also produced hit albums this past year.

New trends in clothing styles again developed over the year. Looser fitting clothing with many layers characterized the overall image. Spring brought with it the return of pedal pushers along with something new and inexpensive, plastic shoes or 'jellies' became popular.

Christmas time created more chaos than usual because shoppers everywhere rushed to stores to buy the doll that has its very own birth certificate- the infamous Cabbage Patch Doll.

This item turned up somewhere on almost every child's Christmas list. As demand for these dolls grew, so did the price. Production could not keep up with demand until after the holidays when the price went down only slightly. Who knew that these simple dolls would be such a hit?

At the movies, "Terms of Endearment" and "Return of the Jedi" seemed to come out the favorites with the character of ET being replaced by the lovable little Ewoks.

All in all, the recession improved slightly, but people were still faced with coping with the jobless situation and finding inexpensive means of entertainment.

Doing a career in the hair and make up industry is not a job, it's a lifestyle. Dress is an expression. Many women say "no" when they wear out their dresses and are getting ready for work. They feel so much more confident and more professional when they feel good about their appearance. In the hair and make up industry, the girls are called for more than one day.

Drives Raise Funds

Over 50% of the student body at SCHS participated in the biggest fundraiser, the annual Patron Drive. Approaching its 10th year in 1984, students collected ads and donations from loyal patrons. Primarily student-controlled, the successful fundraiser has reached its goal 9 out of 10 times. Patron drive remains a must for providing funds for the grant-in-aid program and lowering tuition cost per student.

The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation $f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$. It is shown that $f(x)$ is a constant function, and its value is determined by the initial condition $f(0) = 1$.

In the second part, we consider the function $g(x)$ defined by the equation $g(x) = \int_0^x g(t) dt$. It is shown that $g(x)$ is a constant function, and its value is determined by the initial condition $g(0) = 1$.

The sophomores did their best to show a sense of pride, getting an early start by winning the event at the Homecoming festivities. Their spirit was up and they seemed invincible. Physical competition, however, was not the only area in which they remained undaunted. After completing only one year at Catherine's, they found themselves as sophomores thrown into an entirely new schedule. A difficult enough task for anyone, adapting so readily as sophomores certainly a formidable task.

In an effort to zero in on a career goal, they met in groups with guidance counselors to discuss their ambitions and the opportunities open to them. Such activities, in conjunction with the Guidance Department, aided the sophomores in getting ahead of their peers from other schools, by utilizing a newly acquired competitive edge.

Juniors Add Special Ingredients

With their departure from St. Catherine's just one step away, the Junior Class reached for new goals and conquered new challenges. Although the thoughts of college slowly approached, their enthusiasm in school and involvement in extracurricular activities steadily increased. Friendships strengthened as the year progressed, and pride became the class motto. The enormous homework load never got them down because they worked together to understand the new concepts presented to them. All in all, the Junior Class added spice to the daily activities of St. Catherine's.

Seniors Grow Closer

Since their initial entry through SCHS' doors four years ago, the seniors had stressed the importance of individuality. Students encouraged each other to be different, yet not to go off the other end and conform by trying so hard to be "non-conformist." But it was mostly talk for all but the very few until this year. Knowing that it was their last year together drew the seniors closer to each other than ever before and encouraged them to be themselves.

More importantly, they felt comfortable doing so. Fighting the constant temptation to fall into the senior slide pattern, they still managed to be enthusiastic about school and make their classes fun. Although there were times when teachers found them to be a little too exarable, for the most part, they enjoyed their zest and openness.

Lance And Shield Survive Changes

The 1983-1984 school year touched off a period of innovation and constructive change for the St. Catharines' faculty and students. Among these changes included distinct alterations in extra-curricular activities. For instance, upon the departure of the multi-talented Rick Messina, the SCHS yearbook found it necessary to search for an equally talented replacement to act as Lance advisor. The result, the joint advisement of Judith Morrill and Berry Sargent, proved quite beneficial and educational for the entire staff. Their cooperative efforts contributed great insight and support to the partially disoriented, newer Lancers. Faced with the difficult challenge of this new independence, the Lance staff portrayed their dedication by immediately attempting to complete and perfect the issues at hand. Equally important, the Shield staff once again pulled through by meeting virtually all of their deadlines and producing more issues than in previous years. Under their easy-going yet conscientious advisor Mr. Grauwels, the staff diligently gave many precious time to each and every issue. As expected, the student body received them with a certain degree of respect for the expressive talents that they contained. Overall, despite nominal yet relevant changes, two vital portions of the literary faction at SCHS enjoyed a year of fun, education, independence, and success.

Foreign Language Clubs Taste Different Cultures

Foreign languages teach students to communicate the way people in other lands do. Foreign language clubs let students have fun the way people in other lands do. Each year German, French, and Spanish enthusiasts opt to spend time after school to participate in foreign language clubs. Activities range from singing to playing games to dining at ethnic restaurants. On occasion, the clubs get together for some friendly competition in the form of a softball game, or something of the like. Members enjoy the clubs because they can participate in language-related activities and have fun without the usual pressures of getting good grades or refining pronunciation. However, students do get more exposure to the cultural side of these nations and broaden their knowledge, while having fun.

Hostess Serves Community

The aid of the Hostess Club members was utilized. They planned and served a luncheon for the Archdiocese of St. Louis, which was held at the St. Louis Convention Center. The Hostess Club members were preparing bread and butter for the luncheon. The year's officers were also present and they were other girls who were members of the club. They had a very successful day and they were very happy to represent the Hostess Club. The Hostess Club is a very active organization and they are always working to help the community. Students Publish Creative Works

The students in Ms. Levendusky's Creative Writing classes used their special creative talents in the producing of the Sword. The Sword staff puts out ~~three~~ issues during the school year. Each issue consisted of narratives, poems, short stories, numerous obituaries and several other items written by the students themselves. The selection committee collected various writings of the students and compiled them together into the different issues. The Sword artists then illustrated the thoughts of the writers. Many students' time and efforts went into the making of this recently formed publication.

NYRFPTC Relate On Students' Level

The NYRFPTC again conveyed God's message through their masses and prayer services. In addition, they provided a reflection before 9th hour each day, enhancing the meaning with relevant music and pertinent prayers.

This group of dedicated people gave students a chance to ponder on their religion, ideals and beliefs. Moreover, they painstakingly got people to think about where they stood and to reevaluate their values. Using unorthodox techniques and relating to students on their level, the NYRFPTC succeeded in getting messages across like no one else had been able to accomplish.

Monopoly Club Adds New Meaning To The Word "Board"

Although one rarely hears about this recently formed group of young men and women, their purpose is simple, to play an old fashioned game of Monopoly.

The thrills of owning Park Place or even Boardwalk resounded in the SCHS cafeteria as players deeply involved themselves in the game.

Revitalized by President Tony Diack, the club gained many new players as well as retaining many of the old, experienced members.

On passing one might wonder a bit when hearing, "Go directly to jail," but it is all in the fun of this challenging game.

New Crew Makes Debut

This year, St. Ignace High School has the opportunity to add a new crew to the team. The other four crews have been successful in the past. In addition to the new crew, the school is also adding a new crew to the team. They give the product a new look and served as a finishing touch for many of the crew.

English Varies Curriculum

The English Department introduced several new classes with a few new teachers to bring about a more varied, varied variety. Mr. Bill Drummond returned after a year off adding humor and spice to his English classes for students ranging from freshmen to seniors, and the HS welcomed Miss Judy Norris who instructed upperclassmen in composition and literature. Furthermore, two new classes, Critical Thinking and Classics in Literature, helped meet the needs of college bound students while Writing Workshop, a class of creative and technical writing, enhanced the whimsical pens of young authors.

Blessed with a collection of qualified and successful teachers, the English Department strived to better prepare today's student body for situations of tomorrow involving competent literary knowledge and vocabulary comprehension.

Science Caters To Students

Science is here in the same old-fashioned way that they used to be. They are doing a thorough investigation of the subject and are quite broad in their work. The wide variety of courses directed toward the student's interest is a new trend in the Department of Science.

The Department of Science is now in the time. No longer is it a department of the University.

Carolyn Hogen is a student in the Mr. Hogen who taught a second course in the department.

Some of the students in the department are already in the department who have been in the department for a long time.

It is a department of the University which is a challenge even to the students who are in the department.

Practicality Emphasized

To most people today, technology seems to be racing ahead of the common knowledge, almost unbidded. The Math Department, however, continued to do their part of educating the youth.

Computer classes increased their enrollments as more and more students sought to gain the distinction of being "computer literate."

Certainly, the computer has changed and will continue to change many facets of the work-a-day world, so classes like Basic Programming and Computers in Society could prove to be invaluable. However, without a solid foundation in basic mathematics, students could not advance to such levels. As a result, the department continued to encourage a strong math background by offering not only essentials like Basic Algebra, but more challenging courses like Calculus. Wherever the student's ambitions, the Math Department was sure to provide an indispensable knowledge and understanding of mathematics, computers, and their practical applications in the real world.

Foreign Language Enriches Curriculum

Part of the reason why the world is so intriguing, is the wide variety of ways people communicate. SCHS students lead the opportunity to enrich themselves by learning French, German, or Spanish. Knowing a foreign language can aid students with public relations in future careers, simplify traveling abroad, or just serve as an enjoyable elective. With the addition of Mrs. Marylani, Mrs. Kerner, and Mrs. Perez as Spanish teachers, the Foreign Language Department proved to be better than ever. A majority of students pursue a foreign language for at least one year, and many continue their studies for up to four years. All in all, foreign languages allow students to experience a piece of another culture and broaden their knowledge.

Variety Enhances Student Demand

The Fine Arts Department has been very successful in its efforts to provide a variety of opportunities for students. A variety of courses, including Dance, Music, and Photography, are also offered. These courses are designed to provide students with a variety of experiences.

Photography is a popular course that allows students to express their creativity. Students can participate in six different dance classes, including Ballet, Modern, and Contemporary. Those whose tastes were not satisfied by these classes can also participate in Theater Arts. The variety of courses included under the Fine Arts Department has been a great success.

The variety of courses included under the Fine Arts Department has made it possible for students to pursue a wide assortment of diverse interests. Some continued to pursue their perfect talents they'd had since childhood, while others discovered skills which had previously gone unnoticed.

Students Get Physical

Physically fit, that phrase has gained new impact in the past several years. Everyone seems to be getting into the act, whether by jogging occasionally or by undertaking a gruelingly serious diet/exercise regimen. However, amidst all the attention "getting physical" has received, the Physical Education Department quietly continued doing its job. Students knew the meaning of fitness from the moment they first entered the gymnasiums as freshmen, via the required gym classes. After that initial physical "awakening", those who enjoyed giving their bodies a work-out could opt to advance to other gym classes, often more fun, and frequently focusing on a specific area. One such class offered was Weight Training, one version for girls and one for boys. Programs were offered for the serious athlete as well as for the student simply seeking an outlet for his/her pent-up energies. To sum it up, the Phy. Ed. Department truly had something for everyone.

Business Sense Benefits SCHS

Preparing students for careers in accounting, management or secretarial positions described but one of the Business Department's functions. It also aided students in simply giving themselves a more rounded education. Skills such as typing always prove to be indispensable, and many students took advantage of the opportunity to learn how to type efficiently. Personal Typing offered a crash course of sorts reaching the basics, as well as giving exposure to business letter formats and various other specific forms. Classes such as Business Management introduced students to the procedures of managing their own incomes and running a business effectively. By taking classes in business, students formulated a basic understanding of budgeting, office procedures, and self responsibility.

Football Team Possesses Strong Attitude

Although statistically the football team felt a little short of a winning season, the attitude among the players, and the response from the crowd in general made up for the deficit.

The spectator support and the players' frame of mind produced what could be called a championship season.

The attitude, noticed by the players as well as Coach Welsh, was a very positive and team-oriented one. As one player expressed it, "It would have been nice to have a better record, but that isn't the most important thing." This thought seemed to be prevalent among the players. Even after their disappointing loss to Marquette, the players held together and came back to defeat St. Joseph's the following week.

Having completed a successful season the team chose Pat Geraghty as MVP and Paul Gilbride as team captain.

Harriers Improve State Record

The Angels, coached by Coach [illegible], have been successful in their recent meets. They have won the Waukesha Memorial, Milwaukee Lutheran, and the Angel Invitational. They have also placed in the Park, Horlick, Burlington, Grafton Invitational, and the Anrioch Invitational. Angel's Stride Into Head Wind Strengthened by a gifted influx of younger members, the Angel girls enjoyed a season of growth and development. Upperclassmen enlightened and cooperated with the underclassmen to achieve unity that proved quite beneficial. Talented and enthusiastic freshmen Jenny Gross and Jenny Rogers contributed a great deal to the team and in return harvested invaluable experience that will assist them in their years of running to come. The Angels leaped into the season victoriously but failing health took its toll as the year jogged by. A fine turnout of supportive and caring spectators enlivened the meets and Mr. Bob Miller, a die-hard fan, offered much aid and encouragement. Mary Rogers earned the recognition of outstanding runner and a new-comer, Jill Lange, received an award of effort for her constant show of determination in executing the best of her ability. Coach Tom Scheller's inspiration and guidance drove the girls to individual and team success and pulled them through difficult times. A 5th place finish in Merro, and a 6th place finish in the WISAA State Meet confirmed the fact that as the Angels improved, so did the competition. Coach Tom Scheller and the girls look on the future with hope as the young team gets stronger and they reflect on the past with constructive speculation.

Determination Overcomes Defeat

The SCHS Girl's Volleyball team finished the 1983 season gaining respect from every team in the conference.

Winning second place in the Tremper Tournament, the Angels added a spark of life to a somewhat depressing season. Unfortunately, the Angels suffered more losses than they would have liked. Still, the team put forth more than their share when it came to effort, and the spirit of the game, after all, is just as important as winning.

The girls' unrelenting drive to succeed and never dampened spirit made for a successful and enjoyable season, despite a disappointing record.

Girls' Tennis Adds New Coach

Girls' Tennis Coach Sue Wanggaard described the season's goal as, "to gain experience and through the experience improve play." She also added that, "The team as a whole didn't improve as much as hoped for."

Returning letter winners Michelle Lukus, Jill Meyers and Wendy Schroeder added to the team's overall experience.

Toward the end of the season, the team suffered a slight setback as Coach Wanggaard stated that, "a general decline at the end of the season capped off by not getting points in either the regional tournament or the conference tournament."

Team Captain Lisa Schoene and Team M.V.P. Anna Alfano were honored at the fall sports banquet.

Golfers Finish As "Bridesmaids"

The golf team ended their season quite well with an identical 10-4 record for both J V and Varsity. The Varsity players who achieved this record were returning lettermen: Dan Jackson, Dan Thieten, Doug Albregts and Pete Eitel, with Dan Jackson as team captain. Falling short to Marquette by just a few strokes, they placed second in Conference. As Rev. Slosar so eloquently stated, "We were the bridesmaids instead of the brides, but second place is nothing about which to be ashamed."

Tickets Pay For Themselves

For the Angels, the season peaked with yet another exciting trip to State. Hopes of bringing home a first place trophy ran high. The team rallied hard, throughout the regular season and played its last regional game against bad calls. Despite the problems posed by referees, the Angels came out on top and set their sights on State.

After winning the first game, the Angels looked rough to beat. Saturday proved to be a bit of a struggle, though, and St. Clare's lost a heart breaker to Marquette. Still, the boys did the school proud and gave spectators one very exciting season. Said one enthusiastic senior: "Those tickets paid for themselves!"

Angels Outshine The Rain

The Boys' Baseball Team completed a season that the coaches and players can look back on with pride.

Aside from many rained-out games, the baseball season turned out to be very enjoyable for the players as well as the fans. With much effort and the help of returning lettermen, there was no question that Coach Lersch and Coach Groceffa couldn't have been more pleased with the team's overall record. Dave Smith added, "The rain might have postponed our games, but it was inevitable that when the sun cleared up we'd finish as the victor."

Boys Survive Difficulties

Once again the Boy Scouts made some progress throughout the season. Though somewhat difficult, they always ended with the help of the Scoutmaster and the third place trophy. Two freshmen left the troop and were Merz added new members and a new Scoutmaster. The Scoutmaster, John Puz, was a very good Scoutmaster and a responsible leader.

During the year the troop was very active and had a lot of fun. When the weather got hot, the boys were properly taken care of and the Scoutmaster was very helpful.

Determination Contributes To A Winning Season

The girls' track team has been a dominant force in the Metro area for several years. This season, the team has been even more successful, winning a record number of events. The team's success is due to their determination and hard work. They have been training hard all season and have been able to put it all to use on the track. The girls' track team is a true example of determination and hard work.

Softball Players Don't "Slide" Around.

The JV and Varsity softball players used their talents skillfully. The JV team, composed mostly of freshmen, benefited from their few but good practices to end their season successfully. The new coach, Jeanine Carroll, guided the team in developing their own abilities and individualizing their skills. Headed by Coach Barb Christensen, the varsity demonstrated their power to win. Also having many rained out games, the varsity team put even more effort into the games they played. Lon Pfeiffer stated, "We're just awesome."

Squads Fire-Up Fans

The pit crew squad provided exciting entertainment during half times with the help of two summer camps and their own unique choreography by member. The production of the show was the pit crew's greatest achievement, resulting in a most enjoyable year. The cheerleaders also had a very productive year. To prepare for the season, the squad spent their summer at a cheerleading camp. Cathy Willis, the squad captain, improved the squad's skills while thinking of new and fresh ideas to perform with the help of her cheerleader.

Both the principal and cheerleader squad enjoyed their year, which ended with a successful season.

Summer Plays Display Talent

Once again a talented group of directors, players and crews provided a successful summer season. The season's opener Break a Leg, a comedy by Ira Levin, flopped on Broadway. Under the direction of Michael Black, however, it found success at St. Catherine's. Absurd Person Singular, written by Alan Ayckbourn and directed by Alison J. Porel, involved a ranged plot. The Philadelphia Story, directed by Rick Dahl featured a plot focusing on Tracy Lord, a beautiful, young girl with a complicated love life. The production delightfully wrapped up the summer season.

- A Spring pretty, Luz (Cathy Koboski) sings an opera song
- B Dexier (Andy Miller) finally finds his true love (Kris Verberen)
- C Dietrich (Steve Farr) and Imre (Mike Black) beat up Freitag (Wrye Martin)
- D Marion (Jag Smith) finds Eva's (Elizabeth Doll) ear amusing
- E Dnigh (Mary Jansza) tries to hypnotize Uncle Willie (Andy Bruett)
- F Clearly, Dietrich savors his periodic phone conversations
- G Members of the cast ponder the dilemma facing them
- H Ronald (Kevin Donahue) plays with Marion's face while Eva gets jealous

Cast Puts On Much Ado

The SCHS players come alive in their presentation of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing. The fall play was successfully directed by Father Roerzer and Amy Kerr assisted the director. The fine casting selection added to the overall enjoyment of the play. The intriguing plot was centered around several characters and their entanglements in love. The concept of "blind marriage" and trickery clearly expresses their perception of love.

This production as the title suggests relates to those people who have Much Ado About Nothing.

- A. Benedick (Nathan Bueger) puckers up for performance under the inquisitive gaze of Beatrice (Beth Kramer).
- B. The SCHS players come to their faces (Andy Druett) to the way it (Andy Druett) points to the silly antics below. Holding his hands up, Borachio (Ashley Gulp) protests the evil motives of Don (Cuchowicz).
- E. Beatrice (Beth Kramer) and Hero (Cathy Kaboski) stare in awe at the vision before them.

Director Realizes Dream

I'd like to thank you for helping to make my dream come true," remarked Rev. Roetzer, who had been the director of the show.

G. Roetzer directed Barnum, the spring musical. The cast consisted of 26 talented, young, men and women, mostly seniors.

Viewers left the show saying, "It was a real treat to see it done," and "I loved it!" Barnum had a lot of special effects. P.T. Barnum (Nathaniel Schoene) amazed the audiences with his many tricks. He pulled a tablecloth out from under a table, performed many tricks and danced on a rope from the ceiling. The Ringmaster (Andy Bruett) made his entrance.

Although this musical was relatively new, the cast managed to familiarize the audience with the show. The audience loved the show.

Play Season Ends Delightfully

Sr. Catherine's players topped off their season with Eugene O'Neill's comedy, "Ah, Wilderness." This humorous three-act play had a marvelous cast of characters including a clumsy maid, a drunken uncle, and a mischievous son. The play takes place in the early 1900's and portrays the life of a family with troubled relationships and educating experiences. The variety of characters and scenes made this play a delightful end to an exciting season.

- A A soused Sid (Chris LaDrasca) reaches out for Lily's (Lisa Schoene) hand.
- B Muriel (Cathy Kaboski) promises Richard (Andy Bruett) a date.
- C Richard (Andy Bruett) finally comes home.
- D Elizabeth Doll (Nathan Duege) struggles to get out his side of the story.
- E Muriel (Cathy Kaboski), Richard (Andy Bruett), Lily (Lisa Schoene), and Richard (Andy Bruett) listen intently to Nat (Nathan Duege).
- F Mildred (Missy Ricchio) teases her older brother Arthur (Paul Smith).

Seniors Begin Chapter Two

The day of 1984 was a very special day for the seniors as they began their journey into the future.

The morning began with a gathering of the seniors in the gymnasium. They were all dressed in their formal attire, ready for the day ahead. The atmosphere was one of excitement and anticipation.

On Wednesday evening, the seniors gathered in the gymnasium for a special ceremony. The ceremony was held in the gymnasium, and the seniors were all dressed in their formal attire. The ceremony was a very special one, and the seniors were all very proud of their achievements.

In a restaurant, you can find a variety of dishes, from simple to elaborate. The menu is usually written in German, but many restaurants also have English menus. The prices are generally reasonable, and the service is usually good. If you are looking for a place to eat, it is best to go to a restaurant that is popular with the locals. This will ensure that you are getting a good meal at a reasonable price. Many restaurants also have a bar, so you can enjoy a drink while you eat.

Cheri:

Well what can I say, you a super great friend, we've been friends for 4 years now. Oh my God! I so long! But you a terrific person, one I could always forget! HA! You know I'm just kidding. You have always been there when I needed a shoulder, I really depend on you to thank-you for that. Remember the times in Jyping I, watch out for flying spit balls. God, that was a great class. We had the best time in there. All these spit balls flying in that pocket and on his back I never laughed so hard. Coach Walsh then get stuck in, Cheri.

Remember me? I was in ceramics class with you.

Terri:

with us our junior year. Remember my damn typewriter would never ever work. We'd always be stuck and hitting the stupid thing.
